

A Neighborhood Indicator System for Detroit

Empowering Communities Through Information

Prepared By:

Rebecca Alter

Betty Law

Jung Moon Lim

Danielle Stingley

Paul Urbiel

Geoff Dickinson

Xin Li

Brian Martin

Samantha Tilton

Jacob VanDyke

University of Michigan
Urban and Regional Planning Program
April 2004

Acknowledgements

We would like to thank our advisors, Margaret E. Dewar and Eric R. Dueweke for their guidance and support throughout the span of this project. Their knowledge of Detroit and of the local community was invaluable as we worked on how to best meet our partner's goals.

We would also like to thank our partners: Gregory Parrish, Kim Robinson and John Baran from Detroit's Planning & Development Department and Kathy Wendler from the Southwest Detroit Business Association. Their input on the local communities and provision of data was key in developing an appropriate model for Detroit.

In addition, this project would not have been possible without the information and assistance provided by the following people:

Peter McNally and Michael Boettcher, Detroit's Planning & Development Department.

Nancy Sizer and Amy Raupp, Southwest Detroit Business Association.

Bradley Breuer, Cartographic Modeling Lab, University of Pennsylvania.

Christopher Bray, Detroit Catholic Pastoral Alliance.

Larissa Larsen, Ph.D., School of Natural Resources and Environment, University of Michigan.

Oliver Kerr, Miami-Dade County Planning and Zoning Department.

Tony Lentych, Community Economic Development Association of Michigan (CEDAM).

Ron Mann, Washtenaw County Drain Commission.

Jane Morgan, J.F. Morgan & Associates.

Ronald Ropke, United Way Community Services of Detroit.

Greg Sanders, Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission.